

Tito Figures He Has U.S. Recognition

By HARRY KELLY
WASHINGTON (AP) — Yugoslav President Tito's visit to the capital was short and not all sweet. But his aides say the Communist chief feels he got what he wanted: U.S. recognition of his independence.

"Moscow had acknowledged earlier that there can be shades between white and black, now Washington has followed suit," said a Tito aide.

Tito got the full pomp and ceremony of a visiting head of state, including a handshake from President Kennedy, a 21-gun salute and a volley of criticism from Capitol Hill.

However it may have been the fastest-paced official visit on record.

Both sides agreed, though, that the talks between Kennedy and Tito were friendly and cordial and "characterized by frank discussion."

White House officials said the two principal topics discussed were improved trade and better East-West relations. Tito, informants said, spoke of his unhappiness about Congress' denying his country most favored nation trade privileges. He was assured the administration is trying to do something about it.

When he left to fly back to Williamsburg, Va., where he arrived Wednesday for the start of a 10-day cross-country tour, Tito carried with him a kaleidoscopic impression of Washington.

Five Arkansas Farmers Got $739,657 Subsidy Payment for Cotton During 1961

Mrs. Nhu's Family Shuns Her

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu has returned here from Raleigh, N.C., content to leave the dispute between her husband's family and her parents as it is.

But her daughter, Le Thuy, is not.

Shortly after Mrs. Nhu returned to her hotel Thursday night, 18-year-old Le Thuy sped off in a limousine for a second try in two nights at encountering her grandparents, who have been in New York.

Tran Van Chuong and his wife indicated they never want their strong-minded, glib-tongued daughter, Mrs. Nhu, to darken their door again. But they have said they would be glad to see Le Thuy.

Chuong, a Buddhist, has quit as South Viet Nam's ambassador to the United States, charging Saigon with anti-Buddhist policies. Mrs. Nhu, a Roman Catholic like other members of the ruling Diem family, has rejected the charge.

On the porch, Le Thuy hid behind her chauffeur, as she had done the night before, too. Then, a frightened Vietnamese maid squeaked open the door a bit, spoke rapidly, and shut the door again.

The discouraged girl returned to her hotel suite.

The previous evening Le Thuy, 18, had better luck in gaining entry.

Meanwhile, the Chuong family remained in New York, and Mrs. Nhu prepared for a speech and question-and-answer session today at the National Press Club.

In New York, Chuong, who has become the spokesman for the opposition to the Diem regime outside South Viet Nam, announced that he planned to make a speaking tour in order to "cover the trail of stench" left by his daughter.

And in Raleigh, Mrs. Nhu told a student gathering at North Carolina State College that her father apparently hopes to replace the Diem regime.

Friend John Didn't Have to Wait for the Hereafter to Be Rewarded for Good Work

By CARROLL ARIMOND
(Substituting for Hal Boyle)

CHICAGO (AP)—Some theologians hold that good works performed in this life are rewarded in the hereafter. My friend, John McBride, says it is not necessary to wait that long.

One Sunday morning John's wife, Mary, observed, "It is such a nice, pleasant day. Why don't we take those two ladies down the block for a ride in the country?"

"Why?" asked John. He would have liked to spend this Sunday like the one before, curled up with a big, fat Sunday newspaper and a quota of one highball per section.

"Because it would be a nice thing to do," Mary replied.

John acknowledged he had no argument to match that so he telephoned the two ladies. They would be delighted to go.

For hours they roamed over winding, hilly backlot roads of southern Wisconsin. One of the ladies observed that it would stay pleasant all day because all the cows were standing up.

Mary said she was getting hungry.

"Instead of turning back for home," Mary proposed, "wouldn't it be fun to go someplace for dinner? Bradford's is just a few miles down the road."

"That would be nice, indeed," the two ladies agreed.

John just nodded. He remembered he left home with exactly $15. Bradford's was one of those places described in the WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Charles Weltner, D-Ga., said Thursday that federal subsidies averaging $113,657 were paid in 1961 to 322 farm operators who had cotton allotments of 1,000 acres or more.

Five Arkansas operators received a total of $739,372, an average payment of $147,874, Weltner said.

Weltner, listed these payments in Arkansas:

Leo Wilson & Co., Mississippi County, $221,042; St. Francis Valley Farms, Poinsett County, $301,070; Arkansas State Penitentiary, $70,890; Reserve Estate Life Insurance Co., Poinsett County, $89,972.50; and International Paper Co., Jefferson County, $56,397.50.

Weltner told the House that large operators received a total subsidy of $36,590,760, while 652,287 small cotton farmers received an average subsidy of $5 a month. He described small farmers as those with allotments of 10 or less acres and questioned whether the subsidy program helps them.

FDR Jr. in Favor of Tax Reduction

By STERLING F. GREEN
HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP)—

Undersecretary of Commerce Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. lobbied hard among the top brass of American industry today for support of the administration's tax reduction bill.

He told them enactment of the measure would boom their profits, slash their taxes, increase their sales and put idle plants to work.

Spliced into this glowing sales pitch was this note of warning: The present business expansion has flowered for 30 months and "it is only reasonable to prepare ourselves to cope with the possibility of weakening conditions."

The mixed trends of some of the latest indicators of business activity have "alerted us to be on guard and to take steps to strengthen our defense against recession," Roosevelt said in an address prepared for delivery to the fall meeting of the Business Council.

In all this Roosevelt hewed closely to the administration line: If the tax bill now before the Senate Finance Committee is passed, business will expand. If it is not, a possible defense against recession will have been lost.

Gathered here for the council meeting are the heads of about 100 of the country's largest corporations. Many of these industrialists already are on the administration's tax cut team.

Four books with "Dinners from $4.95." No one ever orders the $4.95 dinner.

He could, he figured, hold the bill down by ordering only coffee. But how could he signal Mary to keep her from suggesting that the ladies start off with a glass of sherry? Would Mr. Bradford remember him from their last visit? Would Mr. Bradford accept a check?

John's brow moistened as the party studied the menus. One of the ladies settled on broiled lamb chops (2) at $6.50. Her friend said that sounded good to her, too.

Mary said she preferred the roast prime rib of beef with Yorkshire pudding at $7.25. John, reasoning it would be senseless to go to jail hungry, took the same.

While they waited for the bus-boy to bring butter and water, Mr. Bradford entered the dining room.

He paused at the McBride table and stood behind John. John wondered if he was one of those sharp businessmen who can see right through a deadbeat. Mr. Bradford bent down and picked something off the floor.

"Young man," he addressed John, "you should be more careful with your money."

Mr. Bradford laid on the table a $20 bill, obviously dropped by a previous diner.

"Girls," John proposed as Mr. Bradford moved to the next table, "would any of you care to start off with a Manhattan or a martini?"

John just nodded. He remembered he left home with exactly $15. Bradford's was one of those places described in the

Moroccans Re-capture 2 Outposts

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH
ALGIERS (AP) — Crack Moroccan troops have recaptured two Sahara Desert outposts but Algeria vowed today that "the fighting is not stopping."

Talks in Marrakech, Morocco, brought no cease-fire in the undeclared border war, and the Algerian negotiators flew back to Algiers.

The Algerians claimed Morocco's ultimate objective is the oasis of Tindouf, an important iron mining center in western Algeria. The village of Tindouf, which has a population of about 1,500, is near the borders of Morocco and Mauritania and about 180 miles southwest of the battle zone.

An outnumbered, poorly equipped Algerian force of about 600 retreated Thursday from Hassi Beida and Tindjoub, the outposts 900 miles southwest of Algiers. Apparently they had changed hands several times since fighting broke out Tuesday.

In a palm grove at Hassi Beida, Moroccan Gen. Ben Omar driss told Associated Press correspondent Andrew Borowiec his orders were to hold the two posts.

Driss formerly commanded Moroccan troops in the U.N. Congo operation.

Borowiec said nine Algerians captured at Hassi Beida all were less than 18 years old.

The outposts, along the camel route to Tindouf and to Mauritania, placed the Moroccans in control of water wells, vital for PROTEST VISIT — Dressed in Croatian costumes, these pickets from Cleveland, Ohio, march in front of the White House as they protest the visit of Marshall Tito of Yugoslavia.

Makes Bid for German Unification

By CARL HARTMAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

BONN, Germany (AP) — Chancellor Ludwig Erhard bid for reunification of Germany today by urging the Big Four powers that defeated Hitler to work jointly on German affairs until a final peace treaty is signed.

This would amount to revival of conferences that the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and France held regularly for a time after World War II.

While expressing firm support of the North Atlantic Alliance, Erhard warned he would not accept any measure that "sanctions or consolidates the unnatural division of our country."

Erhard addressed Parliament on foreign and domestic policy. It was his first speech since he took over the chancellorship from Konrad Adenauer Wednesday.

"We are told that the division of our country is a reality which has to be accepted," Erhard said. "Of course it is a reality, but it is an unbearable one."

Erhard said any new agreement on Berlin must be based on the right of the Western powers to be in the divided city, respect for the will of Berliners and maintenance of free access to Berlin. Like Adenauer, he rejected the Soviet proposals for making West Berlin a demilitarized "free city."

Among Erhard's other points: The limited nuclear test ban treaty should not be taken to mean a decisive change in the world political situation.

West Germany should participate in the partial steps being taken toward complete disarmament so long as the German problem is not sacrificed.

Talks between the United States and the Soviet Union "should be continued with a view to examining whether possibilities exist of relaxing tensions."

In what may have been meant as a mild reference to French President Charles de Gaulle's go-it-alone policy, Erhard said "the defense of Atlantic Alliance territory is indivisible."

He nevertheless endorsed the 9-month-old Paris-Bonn treaty of cooperation.

Although it seems impossible now, he wants a resumption of talks for Britain's entry into the Common Market. He pledged an effort to reactivate the movement toward European political unity.

In domestic policy, he called for maintaining the economy and currency. He emphasized the principle of competition.

Girl 4, Saves Girl Friend, 3

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A mother ran into her yard in time to see her 3-year-old daughter disappear into a hole. A septic tank had caved in beneath the child.

Mary King pulled her daughter, Charlene, from the hole unharmed Wednesday. She credited Charlene's 4-year-old playmate, Yvonne Burton, with saving the child's life.

"Yvonne came running to me and said, 'Charlene is in a hole,'" Mrs. King said. "I ran to the septic tank and I saw just the tips of Charlene's fingers. Then they disappeared."

"I lay down on my stomach and started groping around in the hole until I felt her shoulder. I thank God that I had enough strength to pull her out."

He Believes in Precinct Politics

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — James A. Farley, a man who should know, says American businessmen should play precinct politics.

Farley, who was President Franklin D. Roosevelt's campaign manager, said in a speech at Tampa that businessmen used to get into politics at the working level — "the ward level, the precinct level — and the so-called 'personal sacrifice' of actually seeking office."

This, said Farley, would be much more effective than "making impassioned speeches about 'getting the government out of business.'"

"Girls," John proposed as Mr. Bradford moved to the next table, "would any of you care to start off with a Manhattan or a martini?"

John just nodded. He remembered he left home with exactly $15. Bradford's was one of those places described in the

Wants to Attack China Mainland

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Chen Cheng, vice president and premier of Nationalist China, says the time for a counterattack on the China mainland is approaching.

He told a group of visiting overseas Chinese that President Chiang Kai-shek would order the attack against the Chinese Communists at a time that promises the best chance for success.

The dictator, living in exile in Spain, had urged his followers to reorganize and "build a stronger Argentina."

"Never has unity been needed among the Peronists as it is today," he said in the speech to a rally apparently aimed at pressuring the government into lifting its ban on the Peronist party.

Recognition Plea Meets Only Silence

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus declined today to comment on a telegram from a Little Rock labor leader urging him to use his influence to get the University of Arkansas to recognize an employees union.

Herbert Gingaman, international representative of the United Auto Workers, said in the telegram that he had heard Faubus state at conventions that he believed in the labor movement.

"If you do, then you can do no less than insist that Dr. (David) Mullins (the university president) grant recognition to the employees at the university," Gingaman said in the telegram.

About 75 employees who are members of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME) struck the university Oct. 4. They were joined by 100 non-union workers. They returned to work Thursday under an agreement worked out by Faubus which calls for the university's board of trustees to investigate through a committee the circumstances of the strike.

The strikers were food service workers, maintenance men, campus police and some secretaries. Faculty and staff personnel were not involved.

Faubus said in arranging the agreement that he felt the university board would adhere to its policy of not recognizing a union as a bargaining agent for employees.

Arkansas Elected
BLOXI, Miss. (AP) — A. G. McCaughan of Crossett, Ark., Thursday was elected chairman of the Southern Division of the Paper Industry Management Association during a joint convention at Biloxi of the Southern and Southeastern Division.

Resentment centered on Macmillan's decision to pass over Conservative leaders in the House of Commons and select a member of the House of Lords. Home (pronounced hume) is expected to relinquish his title promptly and seek a seat in the House of Commons in a special election.

Butler leads the liberal wing of the Conservative party. His supporters felt he gave the party a more modern image that was needed for the difficult struggle with the resurgent Labor party in the next general election, to be held by the fall of 1964.

Home himself had kept clear of the power struggle over the past few days. Friends said he was reluctant to shed his title in order to take over the government.

Home was all smiles when he drove to Buckingham Palace to see Queen Elizabeth II.

Crowds gathered outside the palace knew at once that the struggle inside the party was over and that Home would become the next prime minister.

"It's Lord Home! It's Lord Home!" came the cry as his car rolled into the palace courtyard. Shortly thereafter came confirmation from Buckingham Palace.

"The Queen has received the Earl of Home in audience and invited him to form an administration."

Although the selection of Home may leave scars on the Conservative party, Macmillan had chosen a man he could trust in the critical field of foreign affairs — and a man well known to Britain's chief ally, the United States.

British Get a New Prime Minister

By HAL R. COOPER
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON (AP)—Lord Home was named today to be Britain's new prime minister—the man who must try to carry the Conservative party to victory in elections within the next year.

The soft-spoken but incisive foreign secretary, 60, was appointed by Queen Elizabeth II to be her first minister at the urging of retiring Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

The choice of the Scottish peer, who advocates a firm but realistic policy toward the Soviet Union came despite a mid-night rebellion within the Tory party. A large segment of Macmillan's own Cabinet fought to the last to block Home's appointment and win the post for Deputy Prime Minister Richard A. Butler, now thwarted for the second time. Macmillan edged him out in 1957.

DOROTHY DIX

THAT FIRST KISS!

By Helen Worden Erskine

Dear Helen: Your answers have pulled me through many a tough situation, especially those in which my aunt couldn't help. She is raising me. My parents are dead. We get along real good but I find it hard to confide in her.

My current problem concerns a "family friend" who lives in our neighborhood. He's 18, I am 19. In the past we've just kidded, laughed and talked. Last week he invited me to a drive-in. There he kissed me and now I wish he hadn't. I'll never forget that kiss—the first of its kind I've had. When he took me home I just said, "Thank you," and slipped in the house. Now he's mad and won't speak. When we meet I start crying and feel all crazy inside is this normal?

His parents are pretty high-falutin and want their son's girl to be rich and popular. Having taken psychology, I figured this out.

I've grown up with younger kids (there are six in our family), and am not too serious. I love to go and have fun but now that this has happened, I can't sleep I lay awake all night after coming home from the drive-in. This week I lost seven pounds. What can I do? Auntie reads my mail and if she ever found out I wrote you I'd never hear the embarrassing last of it. —Confused

Dear confused: Your behavior is not at all abnormal but 19 is relatively late in life to be getting your first kiss. And for this reason you have exaggerated and overdramatized its importance. Probably by now you've regained your appetite and can sleep at night. Here's hoping, because you're due to have more experiences of this kind before you are able to make up your mind about the right person for you.

Now that the milestone of that first kiss is past, you have some inkling of the power of sex—its pleasure and danger. Its danger is in confusing physical attraction with real love. Physical attraction is an essential and important part of love, but only a part. There are many others, such as common interests, and values, respect, companionship, and understanding. Love, however, does not necessarily accompany sexual desire. This is the trap that so many people fall into.

If you can't get back on a nonchalant, friendly basis with your friend, forget him. I realize this is easier said than done. Substitute other interests. Stop moping about the first boy who ever kissed you. Time helps. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my leaflet, "The Petting Problem."

Dear Helen: When my father drinks he gets mean and hateful. Mother works at a specialty shop to give us children the things we need. We cannot have friends because of Dad. Should I stop seeing my boy friend or be resigned to dreadful scenes? We're all kind to Dad yet still he curses. I've prayed but he is unchanged. Anything you suggest will be tried. —Miserable

Dear Miserable: It's cruel and unjust that you must suffer the consequences of his drinking. Nothing can be done for an alcoholic until he himself admits his condition and wants to correct it. Then the Society of Alcoholics Anonymous is available for help and support.

INDEPENDENT PEOPLE

One of the rarest sights these days is a community in the act of refusing federal aid. It does happen, however, from time to time. The latest demonstration of local independence came in Virginia when the Central Virginia Educational Television Corp. declined to accept an offer of $300,000 from the federal government.

"We thanked them and decided that we didn't want to be dictated to by Washington," said Thomas C. Boushall, chairman of the board of the Bank of Virginia, who is serving as president of the non-profit educational corporation.

Mr. Boushall said "they almost crammed $300,000 down our throats." Approximately $800,000 must be raised for the telecasting facility.

If a medal of freedom exists, the Virginians seeking to improve education by their own efforts are clearly qualified to receive it — The Charleston, S.C., News and Courier

Bailey Station Work Starts Soon

AUGUSTA, Ark. (AP)—Officials of the Arkansas Electric Co-operative Corp. said Wednesday construction may begin late this year on the Carl E. Bailey Electric Generating Station near Augusta.

The Rural Electrification Administration approved on Oct. 19, 1962, a $22.5 million loan to finance the 125,000 kilowatt plant.

The Arkansas Public Service Commission is expected to approve the plant after the construction site is located, AECG General Manager Harry L. Oswald said.

He said engineers checked over possible sites last week.

tor or minister. Meanwhile, avoid the unhappy scenes at home by seeing your friends elsewhere.

Dear Helen: That letter from a love-starved girl forced into a teen-age marriage duplicates my own experience 28 years ago. Only I just kept on loving my husband without expecting a return reward. Now our children are grown, we have a nice home and, most important, a good feeling inside to know we are well off, morally and financially.

We were too busy to express our love in so many words, trying to earn enough to pay bills and still eat. I figure every time my husband helps me he is saying, "I love you." —One Who Loves Life

Dear Lover of Life: The Golden Rule which you and your husband have obviously followed, is the key to success in marriage as well as in all other human relationships.

Have you a problem? Perhaps Helen Worden Erskine can help you. Write her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Kennedy's Home Invaded by Goldwater

By WALTER R. MEARS

BOSTON (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater has invaded President Kennedy's home town with a call to Democratic conservatives to rally around the Republican colors.

And he says there's fertile ground in the South for Republican vote-seekers.

From a platform Kennedy will take Saturday night Goldwater told a $100-a-plate Republican dinner Wednesday night.

"Even the liberals, have to recognize that what we have now in Washington is a would-be king and a want-to-be dynasty, not a president and a party."

And he insisted at a news conference that wasn't just political talk.

"I think there's a very strong desire there to perpetuate," he said.

Goldwater pointed to an agreement between the United States and Russia to back a resolution at the United Nations that would bar weapons of mass destruction in space.

Goldwater said this amounts to "leaving the prerogatives of the Constitution to the United Nations."

Goldwater accused the President of "bald faced deception" in foreign policy and "election expediency rather than economic reality" at home.

And he said even Democrats "who try to resist the spend-thrift gyrations of the New Frontier cannot alone adequately bring fiscal sanity to an administration that locks its conservative members in a madhouse of massive spending programs."

"Those Democrats who still believe in fiscal integrity would be as well served and supported by a Republican victory as would be all in this nation who believe in a sound dollar, real jobs, honest savings and the family security based on them," Goldwater said.

Major Teams Turn to Back Yard Squabbles

By BOB GREE N
Associated Press Sports Writer

The nation's major college football teams shift their attention from cross-country feuding to backyard squabbles this weekend, but it just means a change to homegrown trouble for most of the ranked teams.

Seven of the Top Ten teams have conference games scheduled Saturday, and all but one could be placing their high standing in jeopardy.

Only bulky Mississippi, 2-0-1 for the season and No. 5 in the nation, ranks as a top-sided favorite against Tulane, which has scored only 10 points in losing four straight, in a Southeast Conference affair.

The other ranked teams going against conference opponents—No. 1 Texas, No. 2 Wisconsin, No. 6 Oklahoma, No. 7 Illinois, No. 8 Georgia Tech and No. 9 Alabama—anticipate much tougher opposition.

One of the big ones takes place in Little Rock Saturday night where the Razorbacks, 2-2, will try to stop mighty Texas, 4-0, Arkansas, co-favorite to win the Southwest Conference title in the pre-season picking, was shocked 14-10 at Baylor last week.

Texas displayed a brutal ground game in knocking over Oklahoma 28-7 last week and taking over the nation's No. 1 spot.

The Big Ten lead goes on the line in Iowa City where unbeaten Wisconsin takes on Iowa. They are tied for the top with 1-0 league marks. Wisconsin is 2-0 over-all and Iowa is 2-0-1.

Another Big Ten match has seventh-ranked Illinois, tied for third with a 1-0-1 league mark, at home against a Minnesota team that may be better than its 1-2 record would indicate.

Oklahoma, now 2-1, opens its Big Eight play against Kansas, 2-2.

The feature of the Southeast Conference schedule could be the test of Georgia Tech by Auburn. Bobby Dodd's Engineers are eighth in the nation and 3-1 over-all, but Auburn comes into it unbeaten in four games and a definite threat.

Another big one has ninth-ranked Alabama, 3-1, vs. Tennessee, 1-3, at Birmingham.

Third ranked and unbeaten Pitt travels to West Virginia. The Mountaineers are 2-2 and could be primed for an upset.

Among the other ranked teams, No. 4 Ohio State, 2-0-1, visits Southern California, 2-2. Navy 3-1 and tied for 10th, plays Virginia Military, 1-2-1 at Norfolk. Northwestern, 3-1 and sharing the No. 10 spot, is at home against Miami of Ohio, 2-1-1.

By 1963, Arkansas Confederate forces so badly needed paper to make cartridges that documents from the state archives were used.

Green Bay, Cards Meet on Sunday

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Green Bay's seasoned defending champions and the ambitious St. Louis Cardinals meet Sunday in an important National Football League game that could decide the fate of both clubs.

Since losing their opening game to Chicago, the Packers have rolled to four straight victories on their way to a Nov. 17 rematch with the Bears. The youthful Cardinals, who split two with tough Pittsburgh, are only one game behind unbeaten Cleveland in the Eastern Conference. Wally Lemm's Cards still are smarting from the memory of their 17-0 defeat by Green Bay last year.

The game in St. Louis tops the card for the weekend. The two unbeaten teams, Chicago and Cleveland, are expected to roll along, the Bears at Los Angeles and the Browns at home against Philadelphia. Roman Gabriel gets his shot at quarterback for Los Angeles in the Coliseum against the Minnesota Vikings. Don Shula leads his Baltimore team against his old Detroit teammates for the first time at Detroit. Dallas visits New York to find the Giants crawling out of the wreckage left by Jimmy

The law of guardianship was rigidly defined. Its sole purpose was to protect jealously the rights and the property of the ward. It granted the guardian no privileges; instead it imposed highly strict responsibilities, duties and procedures.

A guardian was called upon to use his best judgment in good faith in paying the necessary expenses of his ward from the income of the estate, never from the principal. Expenditure of the principal for any purpose required the advice and consent of the court. The guardian must act with the highest degree of fidelity and must exercise the utmost prudence in his choice of investments. He could purchase real estate only with court or statutory authorization; without it he had no right whatever to carry on a business enterprise on behalf of his ward, much less on behalf of himself. Plantation Manor had been a speculation to which the court would never have consented; the fact that it had paid off did not mitigate the offense.

Under no circumstances was the guardian permitted to reap personal benefit from the ward's estate. In a known instance of such misuse, the guardian must account to the ward for all profits, and the ward could take them. The essence of it in Win's case was that all the profits he had made from the use of Val's money in Plantation Manor had belonged to Val; and in addition he could have been charged interest at the highest rate allowed by law. All the money he had invested for retirement income, and income itself, plus interest, was legally Val's. It was paradoxical: in one sense, as Todd had said, Val had not lost a single penny, yet, as the law stood, Win had robbed her of a fortune.

"He had to give the court a written accounting, with an affidavit, annually by the first of April," Blake said. "How did he get away with it?"

"Accounts have been falsified ever since accounts came into existence," Todd replied. "I do not know the details, but you know the loopholes. Besides, he had to do it only once."

Yes, if Win had cashed in Val's investments after April 1 of that year, he would have had the covert use of her money for almost two years and only a single falsification would have seen him through that period.

"Gibson had never been too bright, but he played it smart. He was already on the fence so far as the law was concerned, so he was careful not to fall off the wrong way. Going to Win and demanding hush money would have been blackmail. He figured that if he sold his information to Val, and helped her to collect money that was rightfully hers, there would be nothing illegal about it."

"So he looked her up about two weeks ago with his proposition," Todd nodded. "And naturally she bought it. She went straight to the Wingates in a towering rage. Win denied the whole thing. It wound up with Val... you guessed it... turning her back and banging out."

This was what Val had really meant in Blake's office. "Afterward," Todd went on, "Win admitted it to Tessa, and Tessa came to me in a panic. She was desperately anxious about Win, especially afraid of his heart condition — another emotional upset like that one might kill him. Tessa's position was that Val hadn't actually lost anything, so she didn't deserve the money she was demanding. Win was taking the stand that he might owe Val something legally, but nothing morally. My job was to make Val listen to reason."

Blake felt the wind off the bay turning colder. He was recalling one of Barcello's most telling shots: "Then no one gains by

The Algerians first retreated 10 miles to high ground, then withdrew their main force 40 miles to dig in at Tinfouchy. Associated Press correspondent Paul Davis reported in the first battlefield dispatch from the Algerian side.

Davis said an Algerian truck convoy was bringing up reinforcements totaling 300 to 400 troops.

A reporter for the Algerian state radio said 6,000 Moroccans, supported by planes and armored cars, stormed the outposts.

Win and Tessa!

The realization shook Blake: Win and Tessa had suddenly found each release.

"Of course I had to keep Ruth entirely in the dark. I couldn't possibly let her learn something as shameful as this about her father."

"To go back a little — There was only one way to get Val to hold off, and that was to give her some money and promise her the moon. At that early stage of the game the Wingates weren't willing to pay her so much as a dime, so it was up to me to gain the time I needed. I was strapped. The agency was operating in the red. I couldn't think of asking the judge for a loan... couldn't involve him even at second or third hand. You were the only one I could turn to, kid. It wouldn't have been smart to pass a personal check on to Val. I wanted to keep the deal off the record... keep you out of it as far as possible. That's why I asked for cash."

"Val gave half to Gibson. To her, a thousand was pin money. In two weeks it was gone."

Bomb Takes Sight of Negro Girl

By JIM URKS

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Four weeks ago today Sarah Jean Collins, 12, was eagerly awaiting the start of school. Now she lies in darkness at a hospital.

Sarah Jean was injured in the blast that rocked the Sixteenth Street Baptist Church Sept. 15. Four Negro girls were killed, including her sister, Addie Mae, 14. Sarah Jean's eyes were cut by flying glass.

Sarah Jean's daily existence now is through sounds. She can't do what she likes the most—to read.

Her right eye is covered by a patch; her left eye is uncovered, but swollen and she cannot see through it. Doctors say she will probably regain useful vision.

Nurses say Sarah Jean has moments of deep despondency, and at other times peeps up. Never will she volunteer to talk about the bombing.

"Sometimes my eyes hurt," she told a visitor Tuesday, running her fingers back and forth across the bandages.

Sarah Jean says she heard about the deaths of the four other girls over the radio. With the others she was getting ready to sing in the choir when the blast went off.

She has a special friend in University Hospital, C. S. Norton, a young Negro who works in the radiology department.

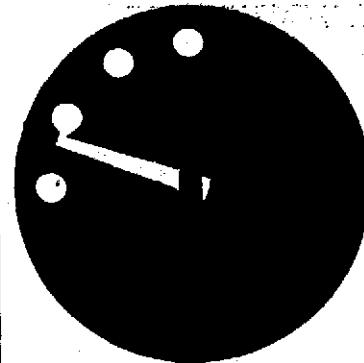

"She adopted me as her brother, and I've adopted her as my sister," he said. "She talks to me, but she's quiet with most everybody else."

Sarah Jean was asked how she feels about the church bombing now that a full month has passed. Her lips moved once but she said nothing.

Norton answered instead. "Speaking for Sarah — you don't mind if I speak for you, do you? Sarah — she would love to thank people who have been nice to her, for the gifts, dolls, cards and beautiful flowers. I'm sure everyone is praying that she gets her sight back."

"As for the bomber, people are praying for him. We wonder what he would be thinking today, if he had children. No one knows who bombed the church but God... He will face God. We turn this problem over to God, because no one else can solve Birmingham's problems. We leave it up to God to solve them."

"Isn't that how you've felt, Sarah?" Norton asked gently. Her head still bowed, she nodded slightly.

A&M Pushes Record to Six Wins

By BILL SIMMONS

Associated Press Staff Writer
Arkansas A&M pushed its record to 6-0 with a 35-7 victory over Harding College at Monticello Thursday night, and State Teachers goes to Russellville to meet Arkansas Tech tonight in the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference football race.

The setback was the sixth straight for Harding, which was outgained 400 yards to 123 yards.

The unbeaten Aggies, then, can sit back and watch tonight as one of their main rivals has a go of it at Russellville.

Teachers, like A&M, is unbeaten in AIC play. A&M is 3-0 in the league, Teachers is 3-0 going into tonight's game, and Henderson, which plays a non-conference game Saturday night, is 2-0.

Tech is 2-1 and solidly in fourth place in the league. But stations along the ladder of standings matters little when Tech and Teachers get together for their annual slugfest. Size, speed and talent don't count too much, either.

So, despite what the records say, we see Tech a 14-13 winner.

Crop Insurance for 3 Counties
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department announced Thursday that it has given three more Arkansas counties opportunity to apply for all-risk federal crop insurance.

NEWS for truck owners who need a new one now

Things Chevrolet has developed since the last time you bought to give you more for your money:

Double-wall construction. This feature of Chevrolet cabs and the Fleetside pickup body has two advantages. Insulation and sound-deadening material is sandwiched between the two layers of steel in the cab to give you more comfort; in the body, the lower inner wall acts as a buffer against load damage, preserving the outer appearance of the truck.

Suspension to fit the truck. Conventional half- and three-quarter-ton models have independent front suspension with variable rate coils in the rear. Variable rate coils do not "bottom out" as readily.

Mediums and heavies have I-beam suspension with variable-rate leafsprings. It automatically stiffens as the load increases—and vice versa. It means a smoother, flatter ride regardless of load, a better handling truck.

The right engine. Chevrolet never has been in better position to give you the type and size you need for maximum efficiency. Today there are many different capacities of gasoline and diesel

Chevrolet truck engines—fours, sixes, V8's.

Stronger frames. Every conventional 1964 Chevrolet truck has a ladder-type frame. This type is more resilient, better able to give with the load and terrain. Its simple design also makes it easier to mount special bodies on the truck. Its riveted side rails are stronger.

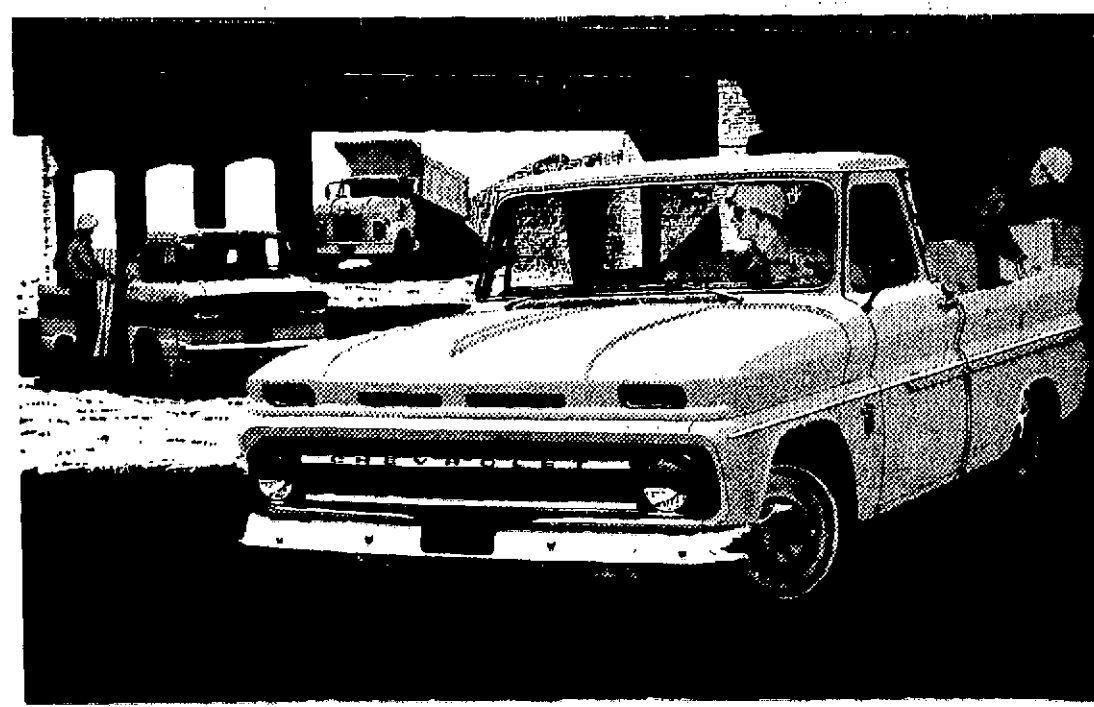

Greater model selection. This time you're going to find it a simple matter to pick the exact type of Chevrolet truck for the kind of work you do. In delivery trucks, for instance, in addition to regular panels and pickups, we have eleven different sizes of ready-made walk-in vans, some with full-width rear doors.

Quality and value. Chevrolets today are a lot more truck than your money bought the last time, and yet the price tag is just about the same as 5 or 6 years ago. Call your Chevrolet dealer for information or for a demonstration.

Quality trucks always cost less!

Porkers Want to Knock Off Longhorns

By WICK TEMPLE

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—"Anybody who was down at Austin last year knows how we feel," said Arkansas tackle Jerry Welch today. "We want this one bad."

A dozen other Arkansas Razorbacks murmured agreement. They want to beat the to-ranked Texas Longhorns for a thousand reasons, but mostly because they feel that Texas purloined the Southwest Conference football championship from them last season.

"They knocked us out of it last year and now we want to do the same this season," said pass-catching Arkansas end Jerry Lamb.

The big theft came on a 35-yard drive climaxed by tailback Tommy Ford's touchdown plunge with 36 seconds left in that game at Austin. Texas won 7-3. It was the only loss for either team, and the Razorbacks still believe they outplayed the Longhorns.

Saturday night's game between the two bitter rivals is spiked with coincidence. Last year Texas went into this game ranked No. 1 in the nation, just as it will this year. Last year the game decided the Southwest Conference title and Arkansas quarterback Billy Gray says, "the team that wins this one could win the championship."

The big difference is this game and last year's Arkansas-Texas battle is that in 1962 Arkansas also went into the game unbeaten and this year the Hogs have stuttered to a 2-2 record, 1-1 in conference play.

The offensive shoe is on the other foot this year. Arkansas had tricky quarterback Billy Moore to throw at Texas in 1962 but Texas has hard-running Duke Carlisle to quarterback the Longhorns this time. He runs a dangerous option play in which he pitches out or keeps and goes inside, depending on how the defense moves.

Carlisle has Tommy Ford, a 5-foot-9 torpedo who is leading the conference in rushing with 248 yards, to throw at the ends and Harold Philipp, a 195-pound junior fullback who has averaged five yards a carry, to run through the line.

Arkansas must find a way to keep the ball enough so that Texas won't have opportunity to run up the score. The Hogs have not been moving the football well. They've lost seven fumbles and had three passes intercepted in four games. Penalties at key times have hurt, too.

Broyles has been alternating Gray, junior Fred Marshall and sophomore Jon Brittenum at quarterback, but they haven't filled the gap left by the graduation of Moore.

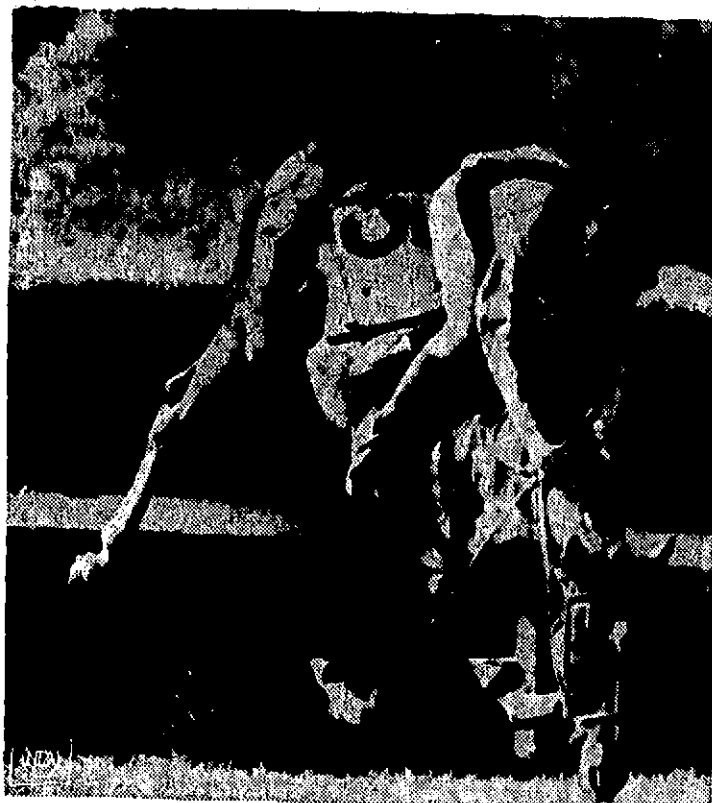

If it turns into a kicking battle, each team has a good punter. Tommy Moore of Arkansas has averaged 39.9 yards and Kim Gaynor of Texas 34.3. Ernie Kov, Texas' long-punting fullback, is still out with an injury. He's averaged 41.4.

Rodriguez Favored to Beat McClure

NEW YORK (AP)—Luis Rodriguez, the 8-5 favorite, predicts he will stop undefeated Wilbert (Skeeter) McClure within seven rounds of their 10-round television fight at Madison Square Garden tonight.

The former welterweight champion from Cuba and Miami Beach, Fla., never has been rated an authentic banger even though he has 22 knockouts to his credit.

But two things have made Rodriguez, 26, more confident than usual. One was his seventh round kayo of Denny Moyer, the strong-jawed Portland, Ore. middleweight contender, last

Unknown Is Leading at Las Vegas

By BOB MYERS

Associated Press Sports Writer LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Golf overpowering Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus ranked in the also-ran class as a little-known California professional, Al Geiberger, led the way into the second round of the $70,000 Sahara Invitational Tournament today.

Palmer, troubled by chronic shoulder aches, trailed by four strokes and Nicklaus by eight as the field swung toward the 36-hole point of this sixth annual event on the PGA autumn circuit.

The 26-year-old Geiberger, whose only official PGA tournament victory was registered just one year ago in the Ontario, Calif., Open, shot a 35-32-67 opening round Thursday.

One shot back as play was resumed, and the sponsors hoped for no rain, were Art Wall Jr., Lionel Hebert and Gay Brewer. A cloudburst hit the Paradise Country Club course with a quarter of the field still playing.

Eight players were tied at 69, including tournament veterans Don January and Ted Kroll, British Ryder Cup member George Will and Canada's George Knudson.

Geiberger, club professional at San Diego's Carlton Oaks, knocked off four birdies with nary a bogey in taking the lead.

Palmer is still bothered by his bursitis condition. Nicklaus quite abruptly was three over par on the first three holes, thanks mainly to a double bogey on the second hole.

Tied for Big 9 Scoring Honors

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Pine Bluff's David Hunt and Little Rock Hall's Bobby Kinkead are tied for scoring honors in the Big Ten Conference race, and the Zebras' Gordon Norwood is just a point behind.

Kinkead and Hunt each have five touchdowns for 30 points. Norwood has four touchdowns and five extra points for 29 points.

Hall and Pine Bluff meet tonight in Little Rock.

Jerry Lawrence of Russellville did not score Thursday night in the 7-7 tie with Benton, but maintained his scoring lead in the Class AA ranks. He has 60 points on 10 touchdowns.

Cecil Blanton of Hot Springs Lakeside leads Class A with 76 points and Kent Smith of Harding Academy leads Class B with 77 points.

Hope Takes on the Defending Dist. Champs

By CARTER HARDAGE

Hope Star Sports Writer

The Hope Bobcats take to the road Friday to battle the defending District champs, the Fairview Cardinals. The Cats will be out to break a three year jinx placed on them by the Cards in this fourth conference game of the year.

Fairview relies on a good running game and a tough defense to do the job. They are famous, or maybe infamous, for the way the hit. It's something like being struck down by a speeding truck.

They have all-state prospect Guy Teel, 185, at halfback. And a big surprise this year is FB Carl Hearn, 180 who had 108 yards rushing against Arkadelphia last week. Fairview runs essentially the same type of offense that Hope had last year, with pulling guards.

The defense is centered around noseman Ronnie Keisler, considered by some to be the best in the state.

The Cards are 1-1 in loop play so far, having lost to Smackover 14-0. They are 3-1 in all. Hope holds the League lead with 3-0, but the race isn't over yet by any means.

It goes without saying that anybody has a rugged time when they play Fairview there,

Jim Brown Pro Player of the Week

NEW YORK (AP)—Jimmy Brown probably could be the National Football League's Player of the Week every week for the rest of the season. His brilliant performance against the New York Giants Sunday easily earned him recognition in the first weekly survey by The Associated Press.

It was strictly no contest for Brown who ran over the Giants and around the Giants for 123 yards and caught four passes for 86 yards in a three-touchdown afternoon.

The fact that the former Syracuse star had never enjoyed and this certainly will hold true tonight. It also goes without saying that the Cats are out for revenge for that 7-0 Homecoming loss they suffered at the hands of the Cards last year. Fans are encouraged to follow the team and let them know that everybody's behind them 100 per cent.

Fouke Falls Before Hope 'B' Team

The Hope B boys tumbled Fouke Panthers 53-19 in a rout here last night.

In the first quarter Virgil McNatt ran 21 yards to score. Jimmy Davis sprinted 42 yards for a tally and Jerry Waller kicked the extra point. Sam Strong passed 40 yards to McNatt for another touchdown. Gary Davis of Fouke ran a kickoff back 80 yards for a touchdown.

In the second period Quarterback Sam Strong scored twice, once from 18 yards out and another from 35 yards away. Waller kicked both points.

B. Samuels ran a kickoff back 95 yards for a score but the point try failed. Also in the such great success at Yankee Stadium in previous visits by the Cleveland Browns probably prompted the flood of laudatory news stories and columns.

The Brown statistics are eye-catching. In 101 attempts covering five games he has gained 797 yards rushing. Only 50 more yards and he will have matched Joe Perry's alltime record of 8,296 yards that took Joe 14 years to compile.

Sunday was a day of super performances in the NFL. Brown simply overshadowed all the others because it came in a game of vital importance in the Eastern Conference with the unbeaten challengers facing the defending champions in their home park.

Civilization Subject of a TV Show

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The network that this year calls itself the new ABC started an ambitious educational project late last evening—a television history of Western man and his civilization.

The first show, one of four, quite naturally was concerned with the discovery of America. To set the scene, producer-narrator-writer John Secondari took the first half of the program for a short course on the Italian Renaissance.

The narration, heavily laced with readings from old records, diaries and ships' logs, was really a lecture. And it was illustrated with films of historic places, old masters' portraits, statues and occasionally by shadowy pantomimes of events.

It was a laudable effort and second period Fouke's Davis made a 22 yard touchdown run. J. Hensley scored for Fouke from 32 yards away and Roberts caught a pass for the extra point.

Jimmy Davis ran a yarn for a Hope tally and Waller kicked again. Strong ended the scoring in the last quarter on a 15 yard run and Waller kicked the point.

The Hope Juniors were also in action last night, defeating the Nashville Juniors by a score of 21 to 0. It was their first victory of the season.

probably is a very expensive one. But the program, on late in the evening, would do much better in an early evening or Sunday afternoon spot so that school-age audiences could get the benefit.

The panel of well-known comedians who will kick off ABC's "Laughs for Sale" next Sunday includes Mickey Rooney and Cara ("Pete and Gladys") Williams. The object of the show, replacement for "100 Grand" is to give some exposure to the work of untired comedy writers—and if it works it will be a television boon.

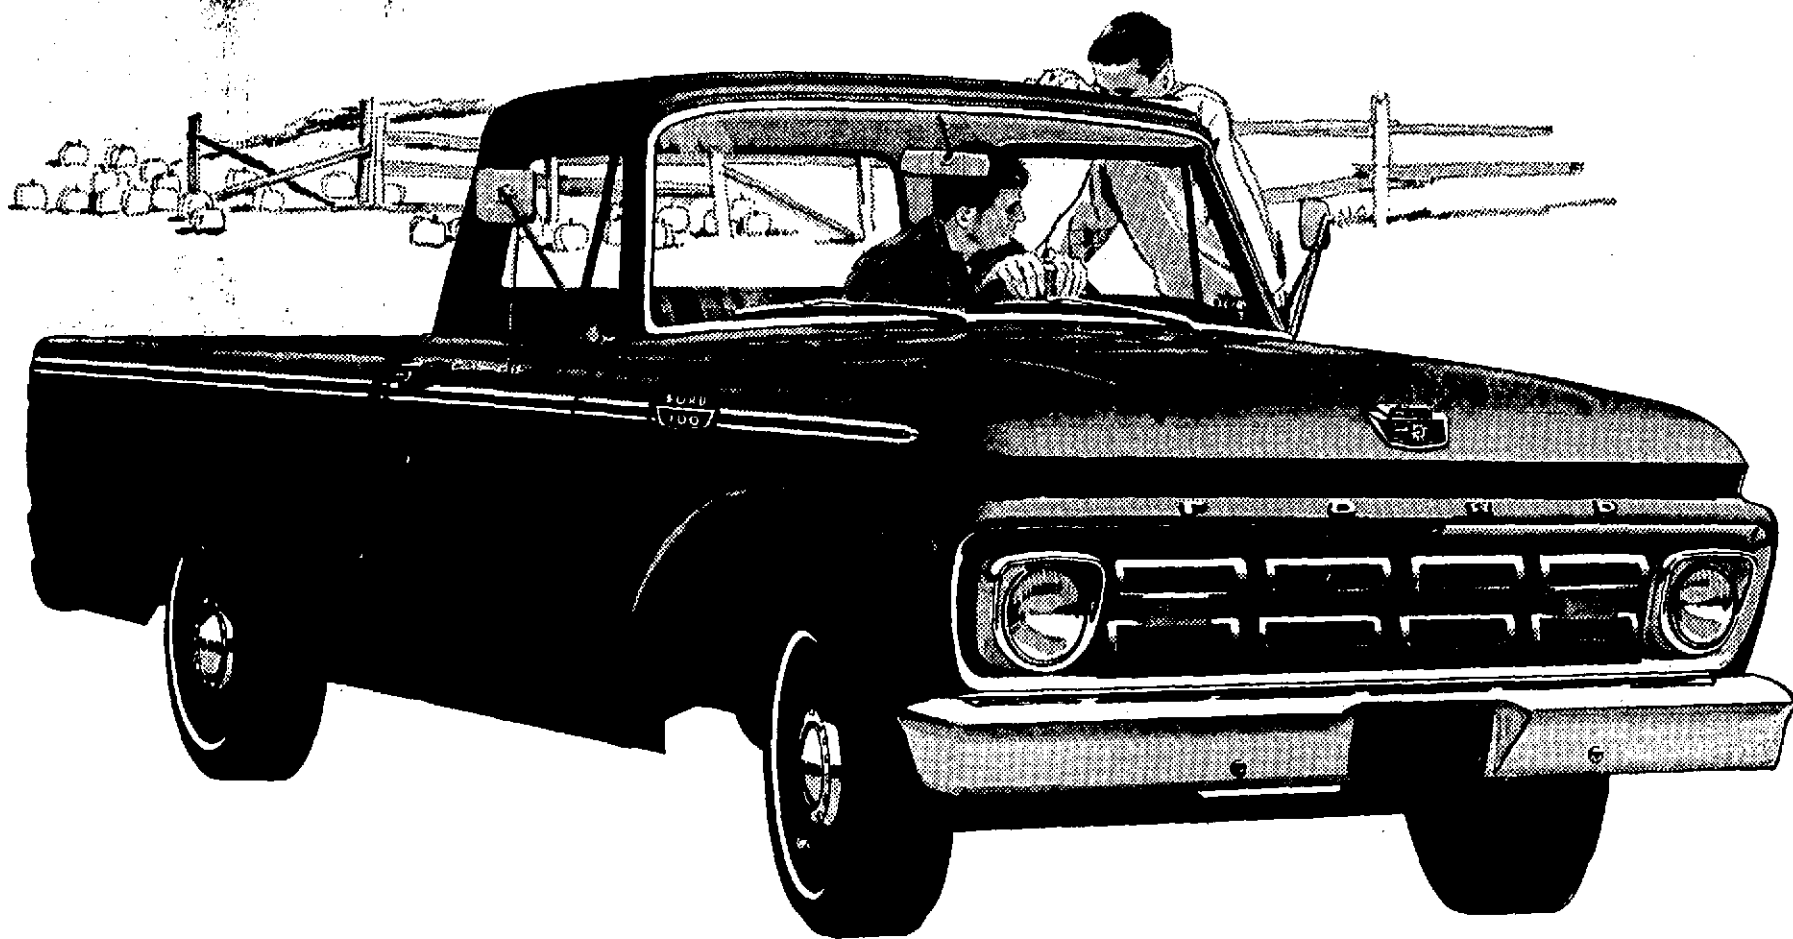

Although television's rating services had some rough going last season before a congressional committee, the industry and the advertising agencies are still paying breathless attention to estimates of audience sizes, particularly those of the Nielsen organization.

The most recent nationwide Nielsen ratings, covering the last weeks of September, when most new shows were being launched for the season has "Beverly Hillsbillies" still in its usual place at the top of the heap, followed by "Bonanza," Ed Sullivan, Red Skelton and "Petticoat Junction" in that order. Of the new shows only "Petticoat Junction" and Inogene Coca's "Grindl" made the top 10 list.
